DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 2, 4 to 6, 9 to 13, 19 to 41 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1 to 21 of U.S. Patent No. 6,719,843. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the sole difference between the instant claims and the prior art is the wall thickness of the crucible. However, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to modify the thickness of the walls of the crucible in the patent to meet the instantly claimed thickness in order to prevent diffusion.

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

Claims 30 to 41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Slack et al (Mat res. Soc. Symp. Vol. 798).

The Slack et al reference teaches a method and product of aluminum nitride (AlN), note entire reference. In a sealed crucible, a source of AlN is placed and heated to temperatures above 2000°C. There is a means to cool the crucible to cause the AlN to crystallize as a single crystal. The crystal size depends on the size of the crucible, note page 2. The sole difference between the instant claims and the prior art is the specific apparatus used. However, in the absence of unexpected results, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use sealable crucibles to create the AlN in the Slack et al reference, note, apparatus limitations in process claims are given no weight unless the apparatus changes the process or creates unexpected results.
